

High-grade stainless steel for ultimate hygiene

Engineered to meet the highest hygiene standards

Whether you choose our spiral, flat or incline conveyors you can be assured of high-strength belting and polished stainless steel construction for durability and low maintenance.

No exposed cableway design is available as optional feature (all cables go through the inside of pipe for clean wiring).

Food grade resin belt carrier rails are light and durable. No tools are required for sanitation and maintenance.

Pipe frame construction provides more accessibility for easy sanitation.

Food grade resin guide provides less friction in between the belt and guide to extend the belt life.
